BENEFITS OF APARTMENT STAYS DURING COVID-19

During the current global crisis, we like to believe that everyone is contributing, in some way, to save lives and reduce the spread of COVID-19. We feel that it is important to do our part and emphasize why choosing an apartment over a hotel for temporary housing can considerably limit interaction with others and reduce the spread of the virus.

One of the biggest differences between hotel and apartment housing is the volume of traffic. While hotels generally have larger lobbies with more guests, apartments provide a more isolated living experience. There are no crowded spaces, packed elevators, or shared dining areas. This substantially lowers the risk of interaction with others. Apartments also come furnished with a fully equipped kitchen, cleaning supplies, and personal washer and dryer systems, helping to limit the risk of interaction through public dining and reduce unnecessary exposure of clothing to shared laundry areas. Staying in a corporate apartment allows residents to control their environment and feel safe in their temporary homes.
